

August 6, 2006

Dear Gadi and NorthStar Moving Corporation,

You have impressed us three times in a row now. Our collective experience with NorthStar Proves how much you value relationship. Your company is one of integrity, meaning the employees live out the kind of service you espouse. You are genuine. You work with utmost vigilance to protect our property. Your concern equals our care for our furniture and walls, where the faintest nick is completely unacceptable. You work efficiently, completing all three jobs at or below the estimated cost. It's a great feeling when it comes time to write you a check and the total is two hundred dollars less than the initial quote. You are patient, as we are very particular, deliberating in order to find the perfect spot for each piece of furniture. You heard "how about here...no, how bout there" over and over, yet your positive attitude never wavered.

We want people to understand the level of excellence they will receive when hiring you. We hope your clients treat you with the same kindness and respect that you freely give.

Sincerely,

The image shows two handwritten signatures in black ink. The signature on the left is for Tommy Allegood, and the signature on the right is for Jennifer York. Both signatures are fluid and cursive.

Tommy Allegood and Jennifer York